LORIMER FLAYS TAXABLE VALUES OF COUNTY "DEFAMERS;" VOTE TODAY

"GREAT WHITEWASHED" PAS-SIONATELY DENOUNCES HIS ASSAILANTS.

Attacks Newspapers and Roosevelt.
Doesn't Refuse to Bribery Charges.

By The Associated Press.
Washington, July 11.—For the second time in eighteen months William Lorimer took the floor in the senate today to defend his title to a seat in that body as the junior senator from Illinois. For three hours, he inveighed against his newspaper and political enemies, dissected influences that had been exerted against him and dealt with the attitude of President Taft and Colonel Roosevelt toward him and his associates in Illinois politically.

The senate did not force him to a conclusion of his speech. His emphatic delivery of the denunciation of his opponents weakened him physically and at 3:20 o'clock in the afternoon the senate recessed until 10 o'clock tomorrow morning when Mr. Lorimer will resume.

Vote Today.
It is expected he will conclude his defensive speech in a few hours tomorrow and before the end of the session the senate will take its final vote upon Senator Luke Lea's resolution of expulsion.

Before Mr. Lorimer had spoken an hour, the galleries, which were half empty, when he began, soon filled to overflowing. The senate floor was well filled with members giving close attention to him, and around the walls of the senate stood scores of members of the house. From a position at the rear of the chamber in the middle aisle he delivered his speech with dramatic gesture and in a voice that frequently rose to flights of passion that carried far through the capital corridors.

Contrasted to the picturesque appeal of February, 1911, when Senator Lorimer gave in detail the circumstances which he claimed had influenced the votes of 52 democrats for him in the Illinois legislature his speech today was an attack, rather than a defense. He scarcely touched upon the charges of bribery in the Illinois legislature while he held the floor.

Alleges "Conspiracy."
Chicago newspaper owners and publishers, Governor Deneen, State Attorney Wyman and others, who have been active in the prosecution of the Lorimer case in Illinois, were the chief objects of his shafts and he sought to show that back of the prosecution was a conspiracy of newspaper and corporate forces to punish him because he could not be "controlled."

At the close of the afternoon he furnished a sensation by introducing affidavits made by delegates to the recent republican convention at Chicago to the effect that they had been offered money to vote in support of the Roosevelt forces in the convention.

The names attached to the affidavits included J. M. Shumpert, A. Buckley, D. W. Sherrod, R. B. Butte and William Jones of Georgia, and other southern delegates. These affidavits came after Mr. Lorimer had dealt in detail with the letter of President Taft to Colonel Roosevelt made public with the International Harvester Company correspondence during the pre-convention campaign.

In this letter President Taft had stated his desire to see Mr. Lorimer ousted from the senate.

Not Forgiving Anything.
Senator Lorimer declared he did not seek to prove anything in his case by the affidavits but that he wanted to "show the hypocrisy running rampant through the country. Colonel Roosevelt's friends, he declared, would have secured his nomination if possible, by the corrupt use of money, while Colonel Roosevelt himself was declaring "he would destroy every political corruptionist."

As to his support of President Taft, Mr. Lorimer said he had supported the principles of constitutional government for which the president stood. He declared the president would not have received as many votes in the primary campaign, "If the men with whom I am associated with in politics" had not voted for him.

Case Not Closed.
At the beginning of today's session Mr. Thornton of Louisiana, spoke for Senator Lorimer and referred to the recent defeat in the primaries of Senator Cullum of Illinois, which he attributed to Cullum's vote for Lorimer on the first trial. "The state of Illinois dishonored herself and not him, at whom the blow was struck," he declared. Senator Thornton stoutly asserted that popular opposition or demands of his constituents would not cause him to change his opinion.

The estimated 1912 value of McLennan county property is $50,689,685, according to a preliminary report forwarded yesterday to Comptroller W. P. Lane by John Reed, county tax assessor. These figures indicate an increase of $1,805,695 over the 1911 valuation. The state tax board, which is composed of Comptroller Lane, Secretary of State McDonald and State Tax Commissioner Love, will meet at Austin, Monday, to make up the state tax rate for 1912. Estimated property valuations of every county in the state will be received at this meeting. The tax rate will be determined by a comparison of the appropriations for 1912 state expenses and the total estimated valuation. Assessor Reed announces that the final tax rolls for 1912 will be completed early in September. He says the sum of $50,689,685 is the closest estimate he can place on this county's property valuation. "This estimate includes the sum of $2,618,355 of intangible values taken from the 1911 list," he says.

WOLTERS TO INTRODUCE NEW FEATURES IN WACO

Speaks Here Monday Night, After Touring the County During the Day.

Col. Jake Wolters, candidate for the United States senate, who tours McLennan county Monday, speaking at West at 10 o'clock in the morning and at Moody at 3 o'clock, arrives in Waco to speak at 8:30 o'clock at the Auditorium theater. Unique plans for his reception are being made.

Col. Wolters is expected to bring out brand new features of his fight against Randall and Sheppard in his Monday night speech. In his speeches during the past few days he has been heaping heated coals on Sheppard and Randall.

He is expected to spend all day Sunday in Waco. It is understood that he will meet many of his friends from adjoining counties here then.

HOUSE VOTES TO IMPEACH JUDGE ARCHBALD

ARTICLES ARE ADOPTED WITH BUT ONE DISSENTING VOTE.
222 TO 1.

Pennsylvanian, Lifelong Friend of Accused Jurist, sticks to the Last.

By The Associated Press.
Washington, July 11.—The house of representatives today adopted by a vote of 222 to 1 articles of impeachment against Judge Robert W. Archbald of the United States commerce court.

Representative Farr of Pennsylvania cast the single vote against the bill of impeachment. Mr. Farr is a lifelong friend, who has all along voiced confidence in Judge Archbald. The case now goes to the senate. Clark of Wyoming, republican, of the senate judiciary committee, and senator Simmons of North Carolina took the view that the senate would acquiesce with Judge Archbald's wishes as to having an immediate trial or being allowed time to prepare his defense.

Among some of the republican leaders it was suggested that while the case probably would be formally presented to the senate next Monday, that body might not do more now than to determine the date for the trial, and that the senate might recess until November and then proceed with the hearing, with a probability of completing the case before the Christmas holidays.

RAMSEY QUOTES WILSON IN CAMPAIGN SPEECH

SAYS PUBLIC MEN SHOULD EAT AND SLEEP IN THE OPEN.
ATTACKS COLQUITT.

Special to The Morning News.
Jackson, Tex., July 11.—A large crowd heard Judge Ramsey here today.

"We must bring our government home to our people and base them on the virtue and intelligence of the people," he said.

"Our governor can not distinguish between the constitution of our state and the constitution and by-laws of the Anheuser Liquor Dealers' association.

"Neither Jackson nor Jefferson ever made a greater utterance than Woodrow Wilson's declaration that the public men of our nation ought to eat and sleep in the open.

"We are going to win a great victory in Texas this year for decent government and for clean politics. I knew when I started out that they had the money, but, thank God, we have the men and men still vote in Texas. I am one of the people who have been voting the ticket for thirty-five years, and never ran for office before. I have no more doubt that I will be nominated for governor than I have that I am standing here, but we do not want merely to beat them, but we want to put them out of business.

"We have had hell to pay in Texas since Colquitt has been governor. They are expecting to vote Mexicans against me whose feet are not yet dry from crossing the Rio Grande."

TWENTY-THREE SPEAKERS TAKE STUMP FOR RAMSEY

Dallas, July 11.—Beginning Monday and continuing the greater part of the week, at least 23 Texans will be stumping the state for Judge W. F. Ramsey for governor. The speaking dates announced today: Hon. Coss Johnson of Tyler, Dallas 8:30 p. m., Tuesday, July 16; Continued on Page 8.

TRADE TRIP TO NAVASOTA IS SUCCESS

BOOSTERS NUMBERING 125 GO
ON YOUNG MEN'S BUSINESS LEAGUE JAUNT.

Enthusiasm Plentiful on Trip—Welcomed at All Towns—Supper at Navasota.

(By Herbert M. Ogg.)
With 125 boosters on board, the third one-day trade trip conducted by the Young Men's Business League of Waco Thursday morning shortly after 7 o'clock on the Houston & Texas Central for Navasota and intermediate points. The Baylor band, accompanying the train, made the day a pleasant one and all of the excursionists upon their return late last night pronounced the affair a success. Many new acquaintances having been made with merchants who will hereafter make purchases in Waco.

The first stop the boosters made was at Harrison, where, after five minutes had been given over to music and a general living up of the booster spirit, the excursion moved on amid cheers to the second of the towns on the day's scheduled stops, Reisel. Here twenty minutes were spent in mixing with the business men and other citizens who met the train, and who in a body, marched uptown with the 125 Wacoans. Though the hour was early, the town was alive to meet the visitors and extend a cordial welcome as was symbolized by a large banner suspended across the street directly in front of the depot bearing the words: "Welcome Waco Boosters."

Everybody left Reisel with enthusiasm which they turned loose at Perry, where 20 minutes were utilized in getting better acquainted with the people of that town. Then came Marlin, where a grand reception was accorded. Mrs. H. H. Hawkins, secretary of the Marlin Commercial Club, headed the reception committee, which was composed of the directors of that organization. Practically all the members of the Marlin Commercial Club, 150 strong, were at the train headed by their juvenile band, a band composed of juveniles who certainly know how to get music out of reed instruments. Marlin made good the reputation she enjoys over several states for doing things right. With the two bands heading the procession the boosters paraded the city's streets and then proceeded to "mix" with the merchants.

C. L. Fannin and E. A. Earle were a committee who showed parties of the boosters through the bath rooms and other features of the majestic hotel. Jo Talbert LaPreille, proprietor of the Arlington hotel, showed the visitors the arrangements of his popular resort and his hot well. Marlin is noted for her two hot wells and the great curative powers of their waters. One of the wells is 3350 feet deep and its waters register a temperature of 147 degrees Fahrenheit. Marlin has a continuous list of visitors numbering approximately 800—her hot well patients. The three banks of Marlin report business exceptionally good and prospects better.

An exciting feature of the trip from Reisel to Marlin was a race with the special by a Buick roadster, driven by J. W. Powers, of Marlin. Everybody in Marlin is enthusiastic over good roads and in this connection Mr. Monday of the Marlin Lumber Company, made a proposition to Waco through the Y. M. C. A. to give the boosters a big Dutch lunch if Waco would keep her end of the road connecting the two towns in as good shape as Marlin would.

Reagan was the next stop, and the trade excursionists took Reagan by storm, as they did Bremond, reminding the merchants of these two towns of the many advantages Waco had over other cities as a distributing and wholesale point, and of the benefits to be derived by them in doing their buying of Waco merchants.

After a five-minute stop at Hammond, a 10-minute ride was made to Calvert, the town where they do things and the place where the sur-

New German Ambassador To Court of St. James

Baron Marshall von Rieberstein, who has been transferred from the embassy at Constantinople, to succeed Count von Metternich as the German ambassador to Great Britain. The change was undoubtedly made because of von Rieberstein's wonderful diplomatic ability—the only man in Germany to represent that country in the court of St. James, while the relations of the two countries are at such a strained point.

WILSON WRITES MESSAGE TO COMMITTEE

CLOSES OFFICE TO CALLERS.
"DASHES IT OFF" IN SHORTHAND.

Plans to Be Own Campaign Manager.
Contributions Are Pouring In.

By The Associated Press.
Seagirt, N. J., July 11.—For the first time since the Baltimore convention adjourned, Gov. Wilson closed his office tonight to all visitors, took off his coat, settled down in his easy chair with a pad and pencil, and committed to paper his thoughts on the national campaign. He was writing the rough outline of his message to the national committee, which meets in Chicago July 15. Page after page of shorthand notes—the governor has written shorthand for forty years—was torn from the pad and placed on the desk beside him. In two hours or so he had finished. He will go over the draft tomorrow with Robert S. Hudson and the rough outline will be made ready to be placed before the committee. No word of its contents, the governor said tonight, would be made public in advance of the meeting.

To Be Real Manager.
The message will contain the name of the governor's choice for national chairman, his decision on whether he shall have a campaign chairman to help the national chairman direct the fight, the nominee's views on the sort of campaign he wishes to conduct, and probably his selection of the executive committee. Discussion of the platform and issues will be reserved for his speech of acceptance, Aug. 7.

Gov. Wilson is going to be the real manager of the campaign. The governor himself said tonight he intended, for one thing, to scrutinize closely the campaign contributions and keep tally of the expenditures. "That," he said, "is nothing more than my duty."

There has been a growing stream of contributions emptying into the governor's office daily. Nearly a score came today, varying in amounts from $1 to $200, with $25 not reach them.

STANDS PAT ON PASSING OWN SHIPS FREE

UNITED STATES WON'T HEED
BRITAIN'S PROTEST AGAINST PANAMA CANAL BILL.

Objection Made to Discrimination in Favor of American Vessels.

By The Associated Press.
Washington, July 11.—Lines were drawn tonight for a great diplomatic struggle between the United States and Great Britain over the question of whether this country may discriminate in favor of American vessels in the administration of the Panama canal. The words war may terminate in the submission of the question to The Hague tribunal.

A series of diplomatic and legislative conferences today developed that forces in the American government which favor allowing American ships free passage through the canal are in control. These forces take the position that there is nothing in the Hay-Pauncefote treaty to prevent this concession.

The diplomatic struggle, precipitated by the note received today from Mitchell Innes, chargé of the British Embassy, it is expected, will be fought along the following lines:

Says Treaty Forbids.
Great Britain will take the position that the Hay-Pauncefote treaty provisions forbid discrimination in favor of the interests of any nation in the conduct of the canal and would operate against the provisions of the Panama bill now under consideration in the senate. This position will be supported by a lengthy argument now on its way from London by mail, which will be presented to the state department and transmitted to congress immediately upon its arrival.

The United States will hold that so long as the ships of all foreign nations are accorded the same treatment in the use of the canal, the United States may pass American ships free or rebate the tolls charged them. This position reversed the report of the house interstate and foreign commerce committee which would have prevented free passage to American ships, and passed the present bill.

Ultimate passage of the measure now before the senate seems assured. The men behind the bill in the senate said today the British note would not prevent consideration of the measure whenever it could be reached in the ordinary course of business and that the position of Great Britain will strengthen the opposition to the free provision.

Sulzer for Bill.
After a conference with President Taft, Representative Sulzer of New York, chairman of the house committee on foreign affairs, made a statement, supporting the bill. He said: "Of course, I am surprised that the British government now objects to the United States government regulating the tolls of its own ships through the Panama canal. However, nothing serious will come of the objection. We will treat it with the dignity it deserves. The treaty is plain and clear to all. The British government should not and cannot complain if no discrimination is made against the British ships in favor of the ships of other nations."

It was generally understood that this position is supported by President Taft and Secretary of War Stimson in direct charge of the Panama administration.

THINKS IT TREATY EVASION.

England's Chief Complaint Is Proposed to Remit Tolls.

By The Associated Press.
London, July 11.—The British foreign office has been in friendly communication for some time with the state department at Washington in regard to the regulation of the Panama canal.

Great Britain's chief complaint is about the proposal to remit tolls of American steamers passing through the canal, which is considered here as an evasion of the Hay-Pauncefote treaty.

There are other points, however about which the British foreign office, through the British Embassy at Washington, has addressed the United States government and since the arrival here of the Canadian premier, Robert Borden, regulations in regard to the steamers owned by railroads has been taken up. Canada has protested to the home government on the ground that these regulations are mimical to its interests.

It is believed it is this question which led to the request for the postponement of the consideration of the regulations, for, although the British government's attention has been drawn to it previously, the matter has been the subject of further discussion since the arrival of the Canadian minister and some new points have been disclosed.

SUL ROSS PARK BAND CONCERT HEARD BY MANY

More than one thousand people heard Alessandro and his musicians in their initial ward concert of the season at Sul Ross park Thursday evening. The park green was crowded with women, children and countless men, and the streets surrounding represented a perfect congestion of automobiles and vehicles.

The musicians were encored time and again, and in most cases responded liberally.
HOTEL CLERK ON VACATION.
Fred C. Wolfe, chief clerk at the New State House, is now on board a Mallory line steamer bound for New York. He is on a three weeks' vacation and will visit many northern and eastern cities, returning by rail.

LORIMER FLAYS ENEMIES

formed from reading the evidence. Senator Luke Lea of Tennessee, followed with a vigorous attack on the validity of Mr. Lorimer's claim to his seat. He declared the plea that the case having once been disposed of by the senate could not be reopened, was wholly inconsistent. “An election case is never finally decided until it is decided right,” he said. Senator Lea reviewed the testimony of Edward Hines, the lumber man in favor of Lorimer, and the testimony of Funk, general manager of the International Harvester Company against him, and discussed the veracity of the two men.

Hines a Bribe Monger.
Mr. Lea charged the majority of the investigating committees with refusing to give credence to witnesses opposed to Lorimer and said the majority had discredited the laws for punishment of bribery.

Edward Hines and Lee O'Neill Browne received much attention at the hands of Senator Reed, who followed. Hines was denounced as an “egotistical bribe monger” and was charged with attempting to influence tariff legislation and with directing the election of Mr. Lorimer.

Senator Lorimer took up his critics in the senate by name. Senator Myers, he said, had made a speech based on a lack of important facts. He referred to an interview by Senator Kenyon in Des Moines, saying that he had determined after a partial study of the record, to vote to oust Lorimer.

“Let me say to the senator from Iowa,” said Senator Lorimer, “that even if before becoming a member of this body, he had reached the decision to drive a man out of the senate, the part of decency at least would have compelled him to keep it to himself, knowing that he would occupy the solemn position of a judge in the case.”

Attacks Deneen.
Senator Lorimer launched into a spirited attack upon Governor Deneen and his fees in office as states attorney.

“Some day the people of my state will put into the state's attorney's office,” he said, “a man who will go through the records and make Governor Deneen pay back the school funds $200,000 or more that belongs to him no more than this capitol building belongs to me.”

Senator Lorimer said he had felt compelled to tell the senate about Governor Deneen, Victor Lawson and the McCormicks and Pattersons who control the Tribune, in order to show the character of the people who had been fighting him.

Mr. Lorimer declared that erroneous statements had been sent out to the world by the newspaper agencies. He referred to what he termed the control of news sources by “Victor Lawson, Melville E. Stone and Frank B. Noyes, who formerly ran the Record-Herald for Mr. Lawson.”

Flays Newspapers.

Mr. Lorimer referred to a current report that he owned the Chicago Inter-Ocean newspaper for which he said the “McCormick family” was responsible and said: “Let me say to you senators who think you are protected by the friendliness of the editors of this trust: You may drive me from the chamber but you can never change the judgment of the senate of the Sixty-first congress, of its decision in my favor, and when the case is no more talked of the guffoline will be there for you as for me whenever you fail to bend your knee. The trust press will not stop with Lorimer. It will go on and on till no man will dare say his life is his own. Drive me hence and in future years take the consequences, putting in control of the nation the vile, vicious, venal trust press of the country.”

Mr. Lorimer read a letter from a friend in Chicago detailing a conversation with Andrew Lawrence, editor of the Chicago-American, just before the second investigation was ordered. The writer said Lawrence had told him that there was absolutely no hope of Lorimer's retaining his seat, that the newspapers were in control and that the senators would vote against him notwithstanding their convictions.

“Hearst, McCormick and Kohl-saat, these are the men responsible for the sentiment in the country today,” said Mr. Lorimer.

Hurt By T. R. and Taft.
Quoting Mr. Taft's letter to Col. Roosevelt in which the president expressed the hope that he (Lorimer) should be ousted, Lorimer complained of his treatment by Mr. Taft.

“I have no ill will or bitterness in my heart toward any senator who voted against me in the last congress, but it does hurt me that I should have been tried by the president of the ex-president of the United States,” he said bitterly.

Referring to the attitude of senators, Mr. Lorimer said: “I object, not to Senator Lodge's vote against me, but surely when a democratic legislator votes for me and another democratic legislator votes for him, I think surely I am entitled to the same consideration that he receives. There were democrats in Massachusetts who agreed with Mr. Lodge as to his foreign policies and had it been necessary, enough of them would have voted for him to have insured his selection. So in Illinois, there were democrats who agreed with me.”

Criticizes Root.
Here Mr. Lorimer addressed the senator from New York. “Mr. Root,” he said, “I have only one criticism of your actions and that was that when they brought you to information that they had discovered the source of the corruption, you should have given me an opportunity to answer the charge. In that case I would either then have been turned out or I would have been here in my full right. Possibly I am even too harsh when I say the information should not have been used against me without giving me a chance.”

This had reference to Editor Kahlsaat's letter to Mr. Root, telling him of the Funk $100,000 slush fund story. Mr. Root listened attentively but made no reply.

Reference was also made to Mr. Kahlsaat's revelations to Colonel Roosevelt. Lorimer declared, never had read a line of the record.

“He wants to get rid of the bosses. He doesn't want them on his side, especially if the people know them.”

MISS KATE FRIEND, Editor.

MISS AGNES TAYLOR BRIDE OF FRANK MANN OF VERNON

Owing to the severe simplicity which the bride chose to observe, there were many of her friends deprived their privilege in seeing her married. This gives meager detail for the report of her wedding. And yet, when they pass from the home in which she was born the youngest daughter, and when from the city a young woman whose family is one of the most highly honored, even these few details are read with interest by the hundreds who have mingled with that family and who have honored the name both of the mother's parents, the late Dr. and Mrs. Sears, and of the father, who is in every way an exemplification of the son of the Old South. This refers to the sunset service Wednesday which gave in marriage Miss Agnes Taylor, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. J. W. Taylor, to Frank Mann of Vernon. Seven years of persistent waiting has given this happiness to Mr. Mann. He, too, is of the honored south, a young descendant of the Old Dominion, and one of the most highly respected men of his portion of the state.

While Miss Taylor made no formal announcement and sent no cards either of announcement or of invitation, her wedding date was soon marked and made the subject of pleasurable interest all through the community. She, since her homecoming from the Randolph Macon college in Virginia, has had an honored place in a large friendship circle. Her family connection extends to the old families and the prominent families of this city, so that affection added to friendship makes her heritage. In all, not more than fifty guests were present at this wedding ceremony. The home was dressed as a refreshing bower, the bride's blossoms being the daisy everywhere. These were principally used in the new popular basket effects, and were many times reflected through the mirror mantels. In the punch room a daisy basket swung from the electrolite and was held by natural vine coronas. Underneath the champagne punch cup was many times filled for the bride and groom, who made more than a favorable impression upon the friends whom he was meeting for the first time. Mrs. Taylor received the guests, assisted by her sister, Mrs. J. N. Gallagher. The service was read by the bride's pastor, Rev. Witsell of Saint Paul's church. She was given away by her father.

The musical prelude was given by Mrs. Cullen Cooper, who sang "All For You" to the piano accompaniment of Mrs. Temple Morrow. Mrs. Cooper honored the patron flower by carrying a bunch of daisies bedded in fern leaves.

Mr. and Mrs. Mann paused only long enough to receive congratulations which both so richly deserve. Then they stole away, their destination being unannounced. But it is supposed that they are enjoying cool Colorado. They go to Vernon and at once begin plans for a bungalow in which they will become a prominent part in the social life of Vernon. The goldaway gown was a full costume of the blue so well suited to the wearer. She never appeared to better advantage than when she stood with her bride's bouquet making those vows which she had hesitated so long to take.

It is hoped that the ties to the old home and the loved ones in and about it are not broken, and that Mrs. Mann will be a frequent visitor here. Seldom does a young woman go to make a new home who carries into it so many of the wifely virtues enhanced by the social graces which so adorn a home. Mr. and Mrs. Mann are followed by the deep interest of many here, both family and friends.

MASTER CHARLES PARKER BIRTHDAY HOST AT THE PARK

For the first time, Master Charles Parker is spending his July birthday at home. So, it was an opportunity for a grand rally of his little friends, especially those who had extended party invitations to him. Master Charles made his list of more than forty guests and invited these to be at the playgrounds out at Cameron park at 5 o'clock on Wednesday evening. There were to matronize the afternoon Mrs. Charles Parker, Mrs. Etta Renick and Mrs. Claud Johnston. But, so interesting seemed the event that many mothers accompanied their little ones, and they, too, had an afternoon outing. The play apparatus was every bit in constant use, and it was a merry ground truly from the welcome to the parting. None was happier than the little host, for he felt his responsibility keenly. There were ice cream cones in plenty, which made the crown to the feast of play. The little party dress and the happy little faces made a sight long to be remembered, and a lesson on the innocent enjoyment of childhood. Master Charles included both little boys and girls in his invitations. The cool of the evening was well spent before the farewells were spoken. There were in this happy party: Misses and Masters Melba Dean, Lott Jones, Orado Jones, Jane Dodd Moore, Jennie Webb Puckett, Alma Louisa Geer, Sallie C. Geer, Blair, Lella Park Robert Park, Louise Nash, Aurelia Brooks, Sims Brooks, George Clark, Foster Fort, Willis Griffin, Munson Munnerlyn, George Munnerlyn, Helen Pool, Willis Pool, Katherine Schimmelpennig, Elizabeth Walker, Mildred Linkenhager, Jack Owens, H. B. Misset, Jack Misset, Thomas Glover, William Misset, Leon Neil Sparks, Francis Guitard, Grafton Hunt, Alice Baker Katherine Damon, Tod, Curtis, Laughlin, Tarriss, Edith Seley, Ruth McLendon, Dick Sontag, Mary Sontag, Susanne Elizabeth Carroll, Hanrick, Coleman, Joe Nash, Mitchell, Frances Nash, Edwin Nash, Eugenia Nash.

SOCIAL FEATURE IN CHURCH RECEPTION FOR MEMBERS

In formal recognition of the large number of new members more than seventy, the members of the Central Christian church as a body was at home on the church lawn during Wednesday evening. These new members were personally invited to be present, and much was done to express the pleasure in welcoming them. The platform, under the supervision of Mrs. F. M. Compton and her committee, was made attractive by testoons of lanterns, bunting and the setting of plants. The music was in charge of Mrs. Colby D. Hall. This consisted of some spirited singing of the good, old-fashioned church songs. The Philathea class, with Mrs. Swiley in charge, served the cream, which made the refreshment feature. Mrs. W. B. Ragland and a committee extended the invitations, while Mrs. T. D. Hays, with able assistants, gave formal welcome and otherwise did duty as reception committee. Several short talks were made by the men, both new and old members. The evening well served the purpose, that of making the new members feel at home and that they are truly welcome into the congregation.

FIRST CARDS FROM MRS. WITT MISS HILL POPULAR

The first cards mailed by Mrs. Edgar Witt and Miss Lucile Hill reached their friends here on Thursday. Mrs. Witt writes of the expected condition of Algeria. She says they have had the good fortune to meet the most interesting boat companions in all of her six passages across the ocean. Among these was Edgar Banks, the archeologist, who has just discovered the oldest statue in the world. He is quite an interesting person, aside from his scientific attainments. Besides, there were aboard three vice consuls and a number of other interesting passengers. Mrs. Witt reports Miss Lucile Hill as the belle of the boat, and that she was having a grand trip. The card was mailed June 29, and left the boat at Algiers. They have since reached Italy, Greece and Egypt.

PIGEON AND CHICKEN ROAST ON THE BOSQUE BANKS

The novelty for summer recreation was afforded by Mr. and Mrs. Shel Sparks in their pigeon and chicken roast on the banks of the Bosque during Wednesday evening. This was a special pleasure for Mesdames Sanford and Hall of Tennessee and McKenna of Fort Worth, the three sisters of Mr. Sparks, who are having such an enjoyable home visit. Mr. and Mrs. Sparks went out with the loaded van of good things to eat and drink, while the guests followed. It was all informal and a following up of fancy's own whim of enjoyment under the great old southern moon, which forgot to shine. Yet it was quite a happy experiment as a family reunion. Mr. and Mrs. Sparks had only the guests of the two families in this novel pleasure, they being Mesdames Sanford and McKenna, Mesdames Berta Mackey, Rebecca McKenna, Messrs. and Mesdames James Mackey, Lon Sparks, J. L. Whitworth, J. W. Whitworth, Messrs. Werner of New Orleans, Brooks, Carlston.

Society Personals.

And the party grows. The latest is that Mr. and Mrs. John W. Davis will be with the A. C. Patton party who makes the water trip to New Orleans within the next few days. They leave for New Orleans on Monday.

Mrs. A. M. Waldrop has been up from Bryan for a visit with her mother, Mrs. M. B. Willis, before her departure for the season at Chataqua, N. Y. She leaves Monday.

Word has come from Mrs. Charles Boynton to the effect that she, with the little folks, are delightfully situated at Boulder. She is enjoying cottage life, near the Blue Bird cottage, where she is in constant association with Mrs. Sherwood and Miss Vanderpool of Chicago.

It is now in order for the women to avail themselves of the summer band concerts to turn the penny for church or charity benefit. But in so doing these same women should be careful that their cries do not disturb the music. It must be remembered that the band has first privileges.

An out of town note finds Mrs. Werner, the agreeable guest of the James Mackey home during the winter season, now a resident of New Orleans. The move from Dallas to New Orleans was made soon after Mrs. Werner's visit here.

Mrs. J. W. Bondurant of Tyler is this week's guest of her cousin, Mrs. Sidney Burrows, on Austin Heights. The news comes from Dallas that Misses Eric Evans and Jennie Moore are enjoying a round of social courtesy while the guests of Mrs. Seth Strong. Mrs. Martha Jenkins Marchant was hostess at an Oriental hotel dinner in honor of Miss Evans.

Since the recent union resulted in so many acquisitions to the various churches, it is the order of summer life for each of these to provide a social welcome to the new members. The Second Presbyterian and the Central Christian have already had this pleasant occasion.

The E. A. Sturges home is closed. Mrs. Sturges is at Kingsville with her daughter, Mrs. Joseph Shelton. Miss Rosalie Sturges is visiting the Misses Webb at Albany, and Miss Edwina Sturges is out on the Bosque Falls camp.

Mr. and Mrs. Eugene Salle are enjoying their last month with home friends. The first of August finds them returning to their mission work in China. They will not have another leave of absence for nine years.

After the fifteenth Mrs. R. L. Smith of Austin avenue will be matron of a cottage at Corpus Christi. Gradually the Wacoans are forming quite a colony at this coast resort.

Tonight will find the usual large gathering out at the Huaco for the Friday night dance. These weekly comings together are now regarded as the most pleasurable events of summer society.

Some of the tiny bid bits from the musical world are interesting. For instance, with the old nobility of France it is an insult to mention La Marseilles, because the air was played while the ancestors of this nobility were being guillotined.

The women who drive down to do their shopping are complaining bitterly of the obstruction to the hitching places in the down town districts by the automobiles which stand the entire day. It is no infrequent thing that a woman has to hitch and walk two or three blocks back and forth from where she transacts her business. The women feel that the rings and other hitching conveniences should be left in vacant space.

Not a watermelon party so far. What is the matter.

Just a few more bits of ivy, if you please, to cover the rusty brick walls and the dilapidated fences.

Several parties are planning for a week at the Galvez.

Remind the little folks of the story hour at the library on Saturday morning.

Do your part towards stopping the immoderate driving of the delivery boys. One remonstrance will not do this, but every morning at every door will save the poor naimal from being driven to death, as many have been.

Cards came from Miss Anna Dilworth on Thursday that tell of a most interesting trip, especially among the many sights of Washington. Miss Dilworth is now due at home.

Mrs. John Dickery writes of having secured pleasant apartments on Seventh street in Los Angeles.

After today the J. M. Nash cottage on Morrow street will be closed. Mrs. Nash and the children go to Marfa to remain until September with the parents of Mrs. Nash.

Mrs. N. E. Boggess, Mrs. J. F. Kimball of Temple, and Woodfine Boggess are a motor party to spend several days with Mr. and Mrs. Offa Boggess in Dallas. They will be at home late in this week.

Mrs. Mary Evans and Aubrey Evans left on Thursday for Arlington, where they will spend the summer. Mrs. Evans will matronize the George Evans cottage during the summer absence of Dr. and Mrs. Evans.

During her absence at Corpus Christi, Mrs. J. W. Whitworth was invited to serve as one of the judges in the Fourth of July parade.

Mr. and Mrs. L. M. Woollett have taken apartments for the season at the new Beach Hotel at Corpus Christi.

Miss Ruth Evans is entertaining the Friday card club this morning. Miss Beryl D. Poole is entertaining as a house party this week. Miss Mary Gorman, also Mesdames Shipp, Alice Hudson and Jennie Evans of Lorena.

Society Notes.

Among the departures of Thursday was that of Mr. and Mrs. N. M. Gay of Washington Heights for Corpus Christi.

Miss Seale of Bryan, who spent several days with Mrs. M. B. Willis, has returned home.

Mrs. J. N. Royal of North Thirteenth, is with friends in Cameron.

Miss Lucile Royal is visiting in Round Rock.

Mrs. Sidney Smith of Commerce, is expected daily. She will be with her mother, Mrs. J. J. Holloway on North Eighteenth.

On Friday, Mrs. Robert Sanford and Mrs. Hugh Hall take home passage for Tennessee.

Mr. and Mrs. Allan Sanford leave before the close of the week for a summer trip to Mr. Sanford's boyhood home, Covington, Tennessee.

Mrs. A. McKenna and Miss Rebecca McKenna left for their home in Fort Worth on Thursday.

Mrs. Shell Sparks and Mrs. J. L. Whitworth of West Washington, are at home from Sulphur Springs.

Among the recent home-comings is that of Mrs. J. W. Whitworth from Corpus Christi.

Mrs. E. W. Sanderson and Miss

APPLICATIONS NUMEROUS FOR DRAMSHOP LICENSES

Only One Refused—Fifty Applicants Given Hearing Thursday, Last Day.

Out of a total of sixty-one applications for liquor licenses which have been heard in county court this week, only one has been refused.

This was the petition of Joe Blum, County Attorney Neff claimed that Blum had in his employ a man whose license had previously been forfeited.

More than fifty of the applications were passed on Thursday, July 11 was the last day of grace for most of the saloonists. The court was fairly swamped with applicants Thursday morning. The run during the afternoon was not so heavy.

AQUARIUM IS GIVEN BIENNIAL CLEANING

Public Given Warning as to Proper Kind of Food for the Fish.

The aquarium at the city hall was cleaned out Thursday for the first time in two years, when a negro put poison in the water and killed all the fish. The fish are now swimming around in fresh, cool water, and seem to enjoy the change immensely.

In the process of the work the fish were placed in four big wash tubs. The bottom of the big vat was thoroughly scoured and all the stale water allowed to run out.

The public is hereby warned to desist from filling the vat again with cigar stubs, cigarette snipes, tobacco juice, etc., as fish prefer regulation fish food only.

HOLIDAY EACH WEEK FOR SANGER STORE EMPLOYEES

Beginning Friday, and continuing during July and August, a half holiday will be allowed all employees of Senger Bros.' stores, both wholesale and retail. The stores will be closed at 1 o'clock in the afternoon and will not be opened again until Saturday morning. This is a new custom in the south and its practice by Senger Bros. is the first practical test to be given in Waco. It is believed by the management that added interest in the firm's business will be manifested on the part of the clerks as a result of the short rest each week.

YOUNG WOMAN UNDERGOES APPENDICITIS OPERATION

Miss Florence Cohen, assistant cashier of The News, underwent an operation for appendicitis yesterday morning at Providence sanitarium. She withstood the shock quite well and was last night reported to be out of danger, a fact her many friends will be glad to learn. Miss Cohen returned only last Sunday from Mineral Wells, where she had spent two weeks in an effort to recover from an attack of appendicitis which had become chronic.

TEACHERS WILL MEET AT SALT LAKE CITY

ASSOCIATION SELECTS MORMON
CITY FOR MEETING PLACE
IN 1913.

Work of Fifth Annual Session Practically Closed—Dr. Wiley Speaks.

By The Associated Press.

Chicago, July 11.—George B. Cook, state superintendent of public instruction of Arkansas, was made a director and James Y. Goyner of Raleigh, North Carolina, a trustee, and delegates showed their preference for Salt Lake City for the 1913 convention at the gathering of the National Educational Association here today. This practically concluded the work of the fifth annual session of the organization. The selection of Salt Lake City has yet to be ratified by the executive committee.

Two general sessions of the convention tomorrow are to be devoted to educational subjects with adjournment to follow in the evening.

Baroness Bertha von Suttner, Vienna, in an address on the movement for international peace today praised President Taft, saying his work was influencing peace promotion in Europe to speak against the enlargement of armies and navies.

Tonight David Star Jordan, president of Leland Stanford, Jr. University, and Dr. Harvey W. Wiley were the chief speakers on health in relation to public schools.

Linnaeus Neal Hines, superintendent of schools, Crawfordsville, Ind., spoke as follows:

There is an ever-increasing tendency on the part of the public to hand the duties and responsibilities of the parents and the home toward the children over to the school. Originally the public school was supposed to give only the rudiments of an education in a few branches. It is a far cry from that earlier day to the present, when so the original three R's have been added perhaps a dozen subjects, with more knocking for entrance all the time. In addition to intellectual training the school in this latter day must look after the moral training of the student and after his physical welfare as well. Never has the world seen such a campaign as at present, looking to the preservation of the health of the public. Both expert and layman feel it everywhere. "Swatting the fly" has become a national pastime because the people believe that the fly ought to be swatted. There is a continual national campaign against dirt disease-producing conditions. The school naturally feels this nation-wide agitation. The school must respond and do its share. Not only must the conditions surrounding the child in the school be right—the school must go further and see that the child has the right conditions of living outside the school, so far as that is possible. The teacher, the school doctor, the school nurse, the home visitor, must all do their share in seeing that the child is given the best change. The teacher's responsibility is a great one, and ten tendency is to make it greater all the time. There may be a limit to this responsibility but the limit is not well defined. The teacher must do everything possible to preserve the health of those under her care. More than ever before the teacher holds the destiny of the coming generation in her hands.

Erich C. Stern, member of the state legislature, Milwaukee, spoke as follows:

There has been a marked development recently in a group of movements all seeming to converge towards what may be summed up as public recreation and social center work.

Among the related tendencies, a whole group have to do with the wider use of the school plant; and outside to schools we find a demand for supervised playgrounds, recreation buildings, branch libraries, baths, etc.

These various movements are only just emerging from the initial period of propaganda. But there is a growing demand to have the community take them over in a systematic way.

One method proposed to effect this is to establish recreation commissions. To such commissions there are two principal objections. First, irresponsible, unpaid commissions, often lacking the power of sustained effort, and their multiplication tends towards undesirable confusion of the governmental machinery. Second, the tools of such a commission would consist chiefly of buildings and grounds already under the jurisdiction of boards such as the school and park boards. The new commission would therefore result in a division of authority, with a good change for friction.

The recreation and social center problem presents two salient features. First, it is fundamentally a large extent an educational problem. Second, it requires a large administrative organization, to which the only present analogy in our cities is the public school department. This department, having both the functional and administrative requirements, would seem to be the logical agency to undertake systematic public recreation. Besides, the school plant is the very fulcrum of the recreation movement. The school plant itself as well as the organization of the department, can readily be so modified as to serve the new uses. It is only necessary to add to the organization a responsible supervisor of recreation and provide adequate funds.

Co-operation with other boards having charge of recreation facilities can be encouraged by permissive legislation, and brought about by joint committees representing the various boards.

William B. Ittner, architect for the board of education, St. Louis, spoke as follows:

School architecture received its first healthy impulse through the work of Edmond Wheelwright, city architect of Boston, from 1901 to 1905, which resulted in a general improvement of school buildings throughout the country.

Investigations of the conditions of school buildings have brought substantial results. Legislation, however, has been more in the direction of means of escape from fire, rather than in safe buildings and permanent improvements looking to fire prevention. While buildings should be erected fireproof whenever funds will permit, the safety of our buildings depends quite as much on the location of its stairways, corridors, and exits, the disposition of the rooms, their height, and the site upon which it is located.

While conditions vary in different communities, authorities agree that the minimum allowable area for a site, after deducting the area of building, plant and other restricted areas, should be 30 or 40 feet square feet per pupil. One hundred and fifty square feet per pupil may be taken as a working standard in cities, while 10 and 12 acre sites may be considered ideal in suburban districts.

The building should be low. This, of course, is not possible in large cities, but we will address our remarks to general practice and not to special problems. Special precaution should be taken against fire. This includes the isolation of the basement, the proper construction and location of stairways, which should be enclosed in incombustible material, the avoidance of hollow spaces in walls and ceilings and a due consideration of size and location of corridors and grouping of rooms. Due care must be taken in lighting, ventilation, and provision made for the rapid circulation of pupils from floor to floor.

In planning high schools, the size of the class rooms cannot be standardized, as they must vary to meet the requirements. Special consideration should be given to special rooms, as laboratories, commercial rooms, manual training, domestic science, gymnasium, library, rest rooms, offices, lockers and lunch rooms.

In conclusion, we find our school buildings, then, becoming more and more a factor in the affairs of the community, and it is important that they should be planned with more care as will render them not only safe and sanitary, but that they also should be given an exterior treatment which will reflect the refinement and good taste their importance demands.

Arthur E. Bostwick, librarian, St. Louis public library, St. Louis, spoke as follows on "The Library as a Social Center."

A center is important for its relations with other parts of the figure—not for what it contains. Public educational institutions like the school or the library may supply immediate social needs, without special equipment, simply by throwing open to organizations of all sorts rooms that are suitable for social purposes. In the St. Louis public library 56 such organizations used six library buildings in a single typical week—athletic, social, educational, political, labor, musical, religious, charitable, civic and expository. The library simply acts the role of host; it does not aid in organizing these activities. This is not necessary, nor would it be wise. It leads simply by raising its standard, and followers flock from far and near. The library is specially fitted to entertain these organizations, for it is in closer touch with the adult than is the school, and it is more catholic. The school will doubtless open its doors also, and if so, wisdom would seem to dictate that it, too, should act merely as a sympathetic host, not as an organizer or administrator of social activities—as a center of the circle, not as a part of its areal content.

George A. Bohlinger, New Trier township high school, Kenilworth, Ill., spoke as follows:

Shorthand and typewriting are inseparable. The wording of my subject would seem to involve two distinct ideas. There is a distinction between the technique and practice of shorthand and typewriting, but the practice is so closely allied with the technique that we cannot conceive the idea of teaching the subjects theoretically only. Technique and practice are inseparable.

The shorthand teacher must be a specialist and enthusiast. It is my firm belief that shorthand, like surgery, dentistry, pharmacy and law, ought not to be considered on the same basis as other school subjects.

To acquire speed in shorthand with legitimacy, without which speed avails nothing, the student must first make himself thoroughly familiar with the shorthand system which he uses, mastering every principle thoroughly before taking up the next. Throughout the theory course there must be close attention to and mastery of details or to superstructure will not stand.

Many stenographers have developed into poor stenographers not from lack of original ability, but from a failure to place the mind in a receptive condition so that every detail of school instruction should be assimilated as a law. The application of a principle never changes, even after years of experience.

We cannot emphasize attention to details through the entire shorthand course too much, and most emphatically must it be emphasized when acquiring the principles of a shorthand system. The daily routine in the household, the office, the factory, and the thousand and one different occupations in life is made up of attention to and mastery of details.

WEST TEXAS PROMOTER IS WITH CONTINENTAL

COMANCHE BOOSTER IS VICE PRESIDENT OF WACO'S NEW EST BANKING FIRM.

As active vice president and a director of the Continental Trust company Waco's newest banking institution, Capt. W. L. Saye of Comanche will become a resident of Waco. He is here now, making arrangements to move his family from Comanche.

Mr. Saye's connection with this banking concern was made known yesterday through announcement by G. B. Reynolds, also a vice president. For forty-seven years a resident of Texas, Mr. Saye has spent the past twenty years in encouraging the development of west Texas inexhaustible resources. He is said to have promoted more successful wholesale land improvements in west Texas than any other one man. He has knifed many monster cattle ranches into farms. He has specialized in the rich lands of the lower plains country during the past few years.

A director of the Stephenville North and South Texas railway, a Cotton Belt subsidiary, Mr. Saye fought for direct railway connection between Waco and Comanche for many years. He says this connection which was perfected nearly two years ago, will be the medium for marvelous development in the Comanche district.

Mr. Saye practiced law in west Texas many years ago, but for the last twenty years he has made a specialty of land and land titles.

"In west Texas your merchants have almost a bonanza awaiting them," he said. "Waco can easily become the main trading point for hundreds of towns in that part of the state. Those people are favorable to Waco, and as the Cotton Belt gradually pushes its line westward Waco will be the principal beneficiary."

"I have studied closely the possibilities of the plains country lately. They are beginning to get results from irrigation up there, and yet but a small per cent of the country is under development."

MONSTER GRAIN CROPS
ON TEXAS CENTRAL ROAD
F. S. Fisher, traveling freight agent of the Texas Central, returning Thursday from Dublin and other points on the line, brings news of monster grain crops. His road will derive a mighty big tonnage in cotton this year, he says.

"Dublin merchants profess great belief in the future of Waco," he said. "They are beginning to believe that Waco is their natural trading point."

APPEALS TAKEN IN INTERURBAN CASES

SQUABBLE OVER RIGHT OF WAY
APPRAISEMENT TO BE SETTLED IN OCTOBER.

The squabble over the appraisal of the property desired as right of way for the Dallas interurban will be settled in the county court in October, following a formal appeal which was taken by the right of way committee Thursday. An appeal was taken in five of the seven cases.

The history of the case is rather interesting. Seven property owners north of the city refused to accept the terms of the right of way committee. For the strip of land through their property, they were offered terms ranging from $250 to $275. The matter was left to appraisers, appointed by the county. These appraisers raised the committee's figures about five times, holding that from $286 to $1250 would be paid for the land.

SECRETED FOR COTTON PALACE
The Patterson shows, including 200 people, will be an attraction at the Cotton Palace this fall, according to announcement Thursday by Secretary S. N. Mayfield on his return from the north. He viewed several carnival attractions on the trip and selected the Patterson troupe as the best. These shows will give free exhibitions, and pedestrians on the War Path will find an unusual attraction in them. It requires 22 cars to transport the Patterson shows. Their feature is the steplechase, an apparatus which was purchased for $30,000.

FRANCHISE FOR BIG POWER PLANT TO BE PASSED FRIDAY
The franchise ordinance of the Texas Power & Light Company, and the Southern Traction Company will be placed on their second and third readings at a meeting of the city commissioners Friday morning. The docket for this meeting will be rather light. No new petitions had been filed with City Secretary Davis at the office closing time Thursday.

THEFT CHARGED TO NEGRO.
Information against John Moran a negro, charging him with theft under $50, was filed with the county attorney Thursday. Columbus Reed alleges that he lost his pocket book and money.

There'd be but One Shoe if everyone knew—SELZ

Selz 1912 Models for Women Are Masterpieces of the Shoe Designer's Art!

There's nothing will sell a Selz shoe so quickly as a SELZ shoe. There is more style talk, more discourse on leather quality, and more apparent facts concerning clever construction and elegant finish "sticking out" all over a Selz shoe than the cleverest salesman could crowd into his cranium in a lifetime. If there is anything further necessary to close the sale of a SELZ shoe we certainly have it in the SELZ guarantee. To write a stronger guarantee would be impossible. It goes the limit, and this store stands behind every word of it.

Then, there's one more Selz argument—an argument that appeals to a person's purse—and that argument is the extreme economy represented in the SELZ prices.

ASTOR AND OELRICHS RACE FOR THIS GIRL

Society Eagerly Awaits Result of Miss Andrews' Speed Craze.

Special to The Morning News.

Newport, July 11.—The active competition between Vincent Astor and his warm personal friend, Herman Oelrichs, for the affections of Miss Margaret Andrews, who will be formally presented to society on July 26, is taking an exciting turn.

Miss Andrews, who is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Paul A. Andrews, is passionately fond of riding at lightning pace in automobiles. Her admiration of an auto increases with its speed. And her affection for friends who are motorists is said to be partly influenced by the speed capabilities of their cars.

The result, while natural, was unexpected. It has created a rivalry between Astor and Oelrichs to own cars that will outdistance each other. In the early part of last season Miss Andrews used Astor's car. It appeared to be swifter than Oelrichs'. But when the young men met in a speed contest on Easton's Beach and Oelrichs' car won it was noted shortly thereafter that Miss Andrews began using the latter's auto.

Miss Andrews returned a month ago with her mother from Europe. Since then Mr. Oelrichs and the young woman have been seen almost constantly automobiling together. He has a brown racing machine that eclipses anything on wheels in Newport, excepting a machine owned by Miss Esther Moreland of Pittsburgh, the new beauty who has won the admiration of Newport.

Miss Moreland drives like the wind, but is no more daring than Miss Andrews. The two beauties undoubtedly will meet one of these days for racing honors on the Speedway. If the Oelrichs car, which Miss Andrews no doubt will use—is left behind by Miss Moreland, an appeal may be made by Miss Andrews to Vincent Astor, who is reported to have just purchased seven new automobiles.

Mr. Astor is understood to have been devoting considerable time to the selection of his cars with the intention of getting the speediest motor vehicles that can be made. A dispatch from Syracuse in the early part of the last month said that he had visited an auto factory in that city. The result of his visit probably will be demonstrated shortly in Newport. It may decide his fate with Miss Andrews.

COTTON—GRAIN—STOCKS—LIVE STOCK

COTTON OPERATIONS ARE LESS ACTIVE

ABSENCE OF OUTSIDE INTEREST NOTICEABLE—OPENING FIRM AT ADVANCE.

New York, July 11.—Operations in the cotton market were on a less active scale today, with a noticeable absence of outside interest. The opening was firm at 8 to 11 points advance, and shortly afterward the market reached the highest figures of the day, or 10 to 13 points above the previous close. From this there was a gradual reaction of 14 to 20 points, followed by partial recoveries in the later afternoon, the close being steady, 3 points net lower to 2 higher.

At no time during the session was there any appearance of actual weakness in the market. Such reactions as occurred were mostly the result of prior taking by commission houses and a little short selling by room traders. So long as weather conditions remain unchanged and the spot situation strong, with the big short interest still believed to exist in the market, there is not much disposition among the trade to operate extensively on the bear side.

Complaints about crop conditions were quite numerous from various sections of the eastern belt, as well as Texas, and there still was too much rain in Alabama, Georgia and the Carolinas to justify any optimistic views on the crop. Bail weevils were said to be doing serious damage in parts of southwest Texas, as well as in Alabama and Mississippi. A large inquiry was reported for new crop cotton today for September-October shipment to Europe. Spot markets were generally unchanged to 1/4c higher.

NEW ORLEANS COTTON.

New Orleans, July 11.—Cotton futures opened steady at an advance of 6 to 7 points on good cables. At the end of the first half hour of business prices were unchanged to 1 point up compared with yesterday's close. At the lowest of the morning prices were 5 points under yesterday's close. At noon prices were 2 points over yesterday's close in most active months. In the afternoon the market was dull and featureless. At 2 o'clock the trading months were 5 to 7 points under yesterday's close. Futures closed steady, unchanged to 5 points down compared with yesterday's close.

LOSES WIFE; TAKES TO DRINK.

Chicago, July 11.—Since his wife left him last Friday John M. Linehan, a real estate agent, living at 2037 West Madison street, has found it impossible to keep sober, according to his story told Municipal Judge Caverly yesterday. Linehan was arrested while intoxicated. In the morning he was released. Three hours later he was rearrested for making a disturbance on a street car.

WHEAT UNSETTLED FROM RUST SCARE

DIP IN MARKET OCCURS AT OUTSET, OWING TO REPORT OF COOL WEATHER.

Chicago, July 11.—Hints that rust had appeared in the northwest today unsettled the price of wheat, but the reports were too few and vague for a genuine scare. The close was nervous and 1/4c up, oats down 1/4c, and provisions unchanged to 10c down.

A dip occurred at the outset in the wheat market, because of cool and favorable weather. Dry conditions in the southwest, favoring movement of the winter yield, also counted against the bulls. Suddenly, however, quotations swung upward. Rumors were current that rust has been discovered in two counties of southern Minnesota. Before there was time to investigate, prices ran up. Minneapolis experts, however, said little wheat was grown in the section named. Weakness prevailed in the last hour on account of rumored rust.

Better demand from the east helped to sustain corn, after the wheat bulge had overcome bearish sentiment due to cool weather. Lightness of receipts tended to lift the market. The oats market was a smaller edition of what happened to other grain—frequent and irregular price changes. There were free offerings of new oats to arrive. Provisions sagged, owing to a larger run of hogs. Pork was leader in the decline, but in the end the average drop for the list taken altogether did not exceed 5c.

The close follows:
 Wheat—July $1.04, Sept. $1.00 1/4, @ 1/4, Dec. $1.02.
 Corn—July 73 1/2c, Sept. 68 1/2c, Dec. 58 1/2c, May 59 1/2c.

BOY KILLED BY BAT

Pittsburg, July 11.—"He's out," said the catcher, "He's dead," said the umpire, just as Joseph Liverick, 15 years old, of 39 Clarence street, this city, rolled into the home plate while attempting to make a "squeeze play" in a ball game on Duquesne Heights here last night. He was struck on the head with a bat which slipped from the hands of the batsman, and died instantly. The catcher tagged the dead player with the ball, not knowing that the boy had been struck with the bat.

COTTON GROWERS' TROUBLES.

Cotton shippers seem to be in for it this season. First, they stand a chance of being saddled with the demurrage charges that may accrue at Galveston. Second, they will have to stand the loss incidental to country damage. And, third, they will be out the usual sum represented by the profit the speculator makes out of helping to carry the crop for several months in the absence of adequate and economical storage facilities at shipside.

The demurrage burden has been shifted to the shippers' shoulders as the result of a controversy that arose between the Galveston terminal lines and the steamship men with regard to the bearing of it. The latter gave notice that they would withdraw from the agreement of several years' standing under which the payment of demurrage fell on them. In retaliation the railroads announced that they would cease issuing through bills of lading. The interstate commerce commission's attention having been called to the matter, that tribunal advised that the railroads, by ceasing to issue through bills of lading, would subject themselves to the charge of discrimination. The railroads countered by saying that they would continue to issue through bills, but that they would affix a notation thereto to the effect that the shipper must be responsible for the demurrage.

With regard to the "country damage" matter, the steamship agents early in the season notified the railroads that they would no longer sign clean bills for dirty, ragged and bad order cotton, owing to the growth in the volume of the claims they are compelled to liquidate at the other end of the line. This has started the railroads to looking for a way to avoid responsibility for damage done to cotton by the weather, by sampling, by cows eating it and by careless and inefficient ginning.

Taking notice of the situation, the Galveston Maritime association has issued a circular to the cotton growers of Oklahoma and Texas, urging them to arrange for gin boxes of standard size and cover their bales thoroughly with good bagging. The association announces also that a conference will be held in New York on July 15 to take the necessary steps to protect those who are innocent, but are made to suffer the penalties imposed because of the carelessness, indifference or ignorance of such as are responsible for the conditions complained of.

In the matter of the marketing of cotton, another conference has been called for July 12, at Atlanta, for the purpose of figuring on how to arrange for the producer to get what is justly due him out of the sale of his crop. The problem is of long standing and has been many times considered, but the middlemen and the speculators are still the ones to make what profit there is in cotton.

The above outlined difficulties are the result of a lack of adequate and economical storage facilities at the ports and will continue to multiply until the need of such facilities is supplied. It is not enough to have wharves at which ships can land to receive cotton. There should be means of assembling, assorting and storing it at will at the water's edge.

Inasmuch as it is all exported, the crop moves seaward in a rush and finds itself at the mercy of quarreling railroad and steamship agents, finicking receivers and sharp speculators. Nowhere along the line is there a place for the producer to get as much as a toe hold on the situation; nowhere is there means for checking the movement or stopping to take stock of market conditions. The housing of the crop is all done on the other side of the water, and the fellow at the other end is the one who reaps the benefit of the judicious marketing he has fixed himself to conduct.

The ports should be prepared to store as well as send out the crop, and it will be useless to talk about controlling prices, regulating the style of package or eliminating country damage until they provide the facilities necessary for putting away the bulk of it at will. And the speculators will remain in the saddle as long as the producer has nothing better than a muddy gin yard, a compress platform or a little sheet iron shed in the interior at his command for the holding of his cotton. Any holding movement undertaken under existing conditions is bound to be disjointed because of the paucity of facilities for carrying it on at the right place, namely, at shipside.

All Wacoans who are interested in politics, and all should be, and more especially those who are interested in the race for the United States senate, should and no doubt will accord Morris Sheppard a respectful and considerate hearing here tonight. It makes no difference whether or not your opinion coincides with that of Mr. Sheppard, or with what you understand Mr. Sheppard's to be. He is a distinguished Texan. He has represented the First congressional district in the national congress for many years, and he has made himself known over Texas and over the nation. He is a guest of the city and has many friends here who are interested in his success.

PROMINENT WACON IS HEART DISEASE VICTIM

T. J. LOVELACE EXPIRES SUD- DENLY AT HOME—FUNERAL THIS AFTERNOON.

After a life of prominence and usefulness, T. J. Lovelace, 74 years of age, died suddenly last night at his home, 429 Speight street, of heart disease. He had been in poor health for some time but was able to move about, coming to the city yesterday morning in his automobile. The end was without warning, coming while he was sitting in a chair conversing with a daughter, Mrs. Pearl Lovelace. Dislocation occurred when he fell suddenly forward.

A native of Kentucky, Mr. Lovelace came to Waco in 1888 from Rockdale, Texas. He was engaged in the grocery business for many years at the corner of Fifth and Speight streets and had many friends, especially among Baylor University students. He took a great interest in public affairs. As a republican, he was active in the affairs of his party. He was a member of the Baptist church, of the Masons and the Elks.

Surviving him are his widow, a daughter, Mrs. Pearl Lovelace, a son, Dr. Carl Lovelace, an adopted daughter, Mrs. Leslie Stegall, and a daughter-in-law, Mrs. Earl Lovelace. All, with the exception of Dr. Lovelace, reside in Waco. He is at present on the water enroute from South America.

Funeral services will be held this afternoon at 5:30 o'clock from his late residence. Interment will be at Oakwood.

Honorary pall bearers are John Moore, Judge John C. West, Luke Moore, Bart Moore, Judge W. H. Jenkins, Captain J. M. Miller, R. H. Gray, Dr. F. M. Witt, Dr. J. W. Hale, O. F. Miller, J. B. Starnard, J. M. Carter, Dr. J. A. Lovelace.

Active pall bearers include Edgar Witt, Charlie Ivy, Charles Pearce, Lud Williams, Ben Kendall, Dan Fannin, Alva Brynn, Loraine Rogers, Percy Willis.

Lindsey Refuses Dry Nomination; to Stay With Roosevelt Party

By The Associated Press.

Atlantic City, N. J., July 11.—A telegram was sent from the prohibition national convention here to Judge Ben B. Lindsey, one of the signers of the call for the new Roosevelt progressive party, offering him the nomination for president. He telegraphed in reply that he had made promises to the progressive party making acceptance of the prohibition offer impossible.

After a day of almost constant wrangling, interspersed now and then with hymns and prayers, the convention tonight overthrew the existing administration and elected Virgil Hinshaw of Portland, Oregon, national chairman of the party.

The convention voted down a proposed platform plank demanding separation of church and state.

COMISKY LASTS ONE ROUND WITH MORRIS

By The Associated Press.

Sapulpa, Ok., July 11.—It took less than one round for Carl Morris, Oklahoma's "white hope," to end what was to have been a fifteen-round bout with Con Comisky of Chicago here tonight.

About four blows were struck, all by Morris, the last one sending Comisky to the floor, where he took the count. Adjutant General Frank Canton then entered the ring to stop the contest, but it had already stopped. Referee Rube Ferns had declared Morris the winner. Comisky stated that he would never fight again.

IOWA TEDDY REPS TO HOLD A CONVENTION

RANDALL EXPECTS TO RESUME CAMPAIGN SOON

By The Associated Press.

Sherman, Tex., July 11.—Congressman Randall, who has been ill at his home here, today issued a statement regarding his condition because, it is explained, of the possibility of the impression being created that he might not be able to resume his campaign. This is accompanied by a statement from his physician saying Mr. Randall's condition is not nor has not been serious and that no complications are expected. Dr. I. P. Gunby, who signs the statement, says it is expected Mr. Randall will resume his campaign Monday.

TRADE TRIP TO NAVASOTA

prise of the trip was sprung. In fact, there was a succession of surprises here. As the train stopped at the foot of Main street Calvert fired her welcoming salute, a mighty bomb. As the boosters in line, marched up-town a succession of bomb salutes were fired extending a mighty welcome. Then Calvert capped the climax when her business men served to the 125 hungry excursionists a real and bounteous Dutch lunch. W. T. Corby and Carl Hardy served the lunch. E. J. McGuirk, editor of the Calvert Pictorine, and secretary of the Calvert Business Club, was the foster-father of this Dutch treat. Just before we boarded the train for Hearne the Calvert business club had their photographer take a picture of the trade developers—the Waco boosters.

After the lunch had been served Roy E. Lane, president of the Y. M. B. L., made an address thanking the people of Calvert for their royal reception and extending to them a cordial invitation to attend the Cotton Palace in Waco November. This is the city where Secretary H. Hagedorn, Jr., formerly district manager of the Southwestern Telephone & Telegraph Company, made his headquarters and he was the busiest man in the bunch renewing old acquaintances.

At Hearne the boosters were met by a reception committee composed of H. B. Eastwood, mayor pro tem, J. G. Philter, Dr. H. W. Cummings, J. W. Greene, E. Rhodes and R. Cole. The Ladies Aid Society of the Baptist church tendered the boosters a luncheon which was splendidly served and excellently prepared.

Hearne, the town that has 26 passenger trains daily, has a great number of new business buildings and residences under course of construction and will soon vote a $150,000 road bond issue. Hearne's two banks represent almost three quarter million dollars in assets, and all lines of business are prosperous. Enroute to Bryan from Hearne the Baylor band gave a concert to the Waco boosters which everyone enjoyed thoroughly. The band and Charles Parker, its director, deserve great credit for the part they have played in making these trade excursions so successful by making them pleasant. At Bryan all were met at the station by a large delegation made up of members of the Bryan Commercial Club. Headed by the Baylor band, the boosters paraded the streets and great white way of Bryan and felt as much at home there as on Austin avenue.

At College Station the boosters were met by Charles Puryear, dean of A. & M. College and acting president; D. W. Spence, professor of structural engineering; Lieut. Levi P. Brown and Col. James Hays Quarrells of the department of publicity.

After short stops at Wellborne and Millican the Waco boosters, with the day's accumulation of enthusiasm and good feeling, rolled into Navasota, the city of their destination. Judging from the crowd that met the excursion in that thriving little city, the whole of its citizenship constituted the reception committee. The boosters were formed in line by Bill Burroughs, marshal, and with the Baylor band playing its liveliest march for the twelfth time during the day, marched in cadence with Waco's progress and did much to strengthen the ties that bind together these two business and social centers.

Supper was served at Navasota and after everybody had satisfied the inner man a tired but happy bunch of city builders boarded the H. & T. C. special for home.

Program for the day's events including the itinerary of the trip neatly printed were given each member of the excursion, compliments of L. S. Henry.

Plenty of cigars were furnished by A. J. Jackoskie during the day.

Everybody agreed that the third trade excursion of the Young Men's Business League was the best that the organization has ever organized.

T. R. MAY BEGIN TOUR WITHIN TWO WEEKS

PLANS TO TALK TO MORE PEOPLE THAN A CANDIDATE EVER DID BEFORE.

By The Associated Press.

Oyster Bay, July 11.—Within less than a fortnight Col. Roosevelt probably will begin the campaign trips which are to carry him almost into every state of the union before the November election. Although he has not reached a final decision, he expects to leave Oyster Bay week after next. He may attend the Chicago convention of the new progressive party.

The purpose of Col. Roosevelt's trip, if it is made, will be to tour states in which primaries will soon be held to nominate republican electors.

"I've been asked to go to three states, Kansas, Iowa and Michigan, to take part in the primary campaign," he said tonight.

With what he regards as the greatest fight of his life ahead, he has decided to put aside other considerations, if he deems necessary, and begin his personal campaign this month. Col. Roosevelt today indicated that during the campaign he expected to speak to more persons than almost any other candidate in the history of the country.
